

Title:

The ABC's Of Home School: Deciding To Study At Home

Word Count:

660

Summary:

^There's no place like home,~ says the lovely Dorothy to get out of the wonderful Land of Oz I

Before, studying at home was a luxury available only to the elite and aristocratic families wh

Keywords:

home school,home school curriculum,home school resource,christian home school curriculum

Article Body:

^There's no place like home,~ says the lovely Dorothy to get out of the wonderful Land of Oz I

Before, studying at home was a luxury available only to the elite and aristocratic families wh

However, deciding to study at home is not an easy matter. Making a school out of a home is not

For the part of the student:

A home school requires strict commitment. It takes a lot of time in a learner's day, perhaps a

A home school would also limit a child's interaction with other people; this could greatly aff

There is also a great danger of being bored when a student is confined to a certain place, a c

For the part of the parent:

A home school entails a lot of sacrifice. Most home schools operate nowadays with at least a p

Having school at home can also make it difficult for parents to accomplish housework. Since mo

Deciding to Have School at Home

When choosing between a home school and a regular school it is very essential for both parents

This brings into question the willingness of the child who is to study in the home school. Whi

There are many options regarding home schools. To learn more about them, simply search for hom

All Rights Reserved - Reprint of this article is only authorized when links remain intact.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>