

Title:

Life - a Quest!

Word Count:

702

Summary:

The article is about thinking of applying what you have learned. We learn a lot in our life b

Keywords:

" Navitus, HR Consultant, Personal Improvement, Individual Grooming, Team work, Performance E

Article Body:

'Limited time. Continuous journey.' This is how one participant of my recent session defined l

The legacy line is not new. Most people know leadership is all about having a vision and leadi

The purpose of a human being is beyond just his/her vision in life. The vision we have and the Individuals working in organizations have job descriptions. Life in itself is an organization.

Learn:

Life is all about learning. However, here it is not about technical skills or soft skills like

Many people go through the learning process once and PERIOD! They fail to take it a step furth that learning and handicaps development and growth.

Develop:

Nothing is good or bad unless we compare. This comparison could be a good beginning. You learn

Many people learn and understand but few try to develop. For example you learn that your patie something to improve it.

Grow:

You learn about who you are and develop based on the comparisons you make. The next step is gr

Do at least one thing a day, which makes you feel uncomfortable. Push yourself; you will be am

Mature:

The final stage of life is to apply what we have gained, in a timely manner. Life teaches that

To sum it all the quest of life must be to Learn, Develop, Grow and Mature (LDGM) the rest are Here is an interesting quotation that will hopefully leave a quest in your mind.

'I think the purpose of life is to be useful, to be responsible, to be honorable, to be compas

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>