

Title:

Please Listen, don't Just Hear Me

Word Count:

602

Summary:

Did you know that there is quite a difference between listening and hearing?

The skill of listening is frequently overlooked, or given a low priority in our communication

The benefits of having good listening skills are far reaching.

Keywords:

listening, listeningskills, communication, good communication skills, interpersonal skills

Article Body:

^One of the greatest gifts you can give to anyone is the gift of attention."

-- Jim Rohn

Did you know that there is quite a difference between listening and hearing?

Hearing is receiving sounds and communication. We hear all the time, but are not always aware

In relating with other people listening is a skill that needs to be learned. It is not merely

The skill of listening is frequently overlooked, or given a low priority in our communication

A major factor to a person having poor listening skills is that they are too self focused. Peo

Many times people believe if someone is telling them about a challenge that they are having, t

Here are some good ways to develop listening skills:

Be interested in the person you are talking to. Listen with the intention of learning about th

Develop an attitude of curiosity towards people. Ask them questions about what they think, fee

Develop your observation skills to notice things about the other person. What brings a smile t

The benefits of having good listening skills are far reaching. You build rapport quicker with

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>