

Title:

Self-Esteem: How To Let Your Light Shine

Word Count:

713

Summary:

This week something interesting happened to me. I made a gift for someone, and they absolutely

I must admit, I had to give that questio...

Keywords:

self esteem,self worth,let your light shine,taking pride in accomplishments,self love

Article Body:

This week something interesting happened to me. I made a gift for someone, and they absolutely

I must admit, I had to give that question some long, hard thought. What I realized is that I a

Maybe we are afraid of being braggarts. Nobody likes a boastful, prideful person. From a young

There is a very big difference between sharing our gifts with the world, and showing off. When

How dare we hide our Lights? They are not ours to hide. They were given to us by a loving God

So many of us think that we have nothing to share. We spend most of our days feeling like an e

Know that you do have something to share with the world. If you will dare to reach down inside

Remember that you are the only one holding yourself back.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>