

Title:

The Value Of Associations

Word Count:

652

Summary:

This past week I ran into a friend of mine who I hadn't seen in quite some time. It was good to

Then I remembered why I stopped associating with him in the first place.

The guy has a big heart, and you can't help but love him. Unfortunately, he is also an incessant

He is always going on about how he doesn't make enough money with his job, and how things never

Keywords:

self-esteem, positive attitude, network marketing

Article Body:

This past week I ran into a friend of mine who I hadn't seen in quite some time. It was good to

Then I remembered why I stopped associating with him in the first place.

The guy has a big heart, and you can't help but love him. Unfortunately, he is also an incessant

He is always going on about how he doesn't make enough money with his job, and how things never

But it doesn't stop there. It's not enough for him to mope and complain about his own life, he

He asked me how my 'little internet business' was going. Remember it's been a long time since

I certainly didn't want to rub anything in here, so I just told him politely that things were

I could see the irritation in his face. This guy was genuinely distraught over my success.

He gave a grunt and said "Well good luck."

But he didn't really mean 'Good luck'. What he meant was 'I hope you fall flat on your face and

He's a loser because he projects nothing but negative energy into his own life, and he wants e

I spent just a couple more minutes chatting with him, then told him I had to run.

I really do wish him the best, but I'm certainly not going to spend my precious time letting h

There is a lesson to all this, and here it is.

Think of the most successful person you know. For our purposes today, let's define success as

Now, ask yourself who this highly productive individual associates with. Chances are the group

Now try the same exercise with the least successful individual you know. It's not too likely

The kind of people we surround ourselves with will have a profound effect on our thought patte

To spend the majority of our time around people who offer us doubt and discouragement is to li

People who want to whine and complain about how unfair life is, and how they just can't seem t

One of the best things you can do for your own success and happiness is give these losers the

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>