

Title:

Is The End Near?

Word Count:

388

Summary:

During the past year, hundreds of thousands have perished at the hands of a mother nature run

Keywords:

social issues,psychology,politics,economics,thought

Article Body:

During the past year, hundreds of thousands have perished at the hands of a mother nature run

Those who adhere to the prophecies of the past suggest that the cataclysm of world destruction

Certainly, the recent natural disasters have been extreme, eclipsing anything in living memory

The human race is now enormous, exceeding by a thousand percent the world inhabitants of the n

Consider the news in historical context, a far vaster landscape than human memory. And consid

The earthquake in Kashmir claimed perhaps 40,000 valuable lives out of a planetary population

The horrors of AIDS and the looming threat of 'flu pandemics may kill a few million of us. In

Think of the Ice Ages that have periodically crept across the earth's surface, wiping out hund

Our spaceship earth is a living, breathing and highly unstable vessel. It explodes, erupts, an

The forces of nature are doing what they have always done. There are just so many more of us t

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>