They say breaking up is hard to do. Break-ups are very common in fact sadly enough, it happens

While I can't be a miracle worker this area I can provide some very common mistakes that women

1. Thinking you can change who he is.

Many women get involved with men with undesirable habits, and cling to the relationship hoping

Well, that's actually not how it works. You see, women are attracted to a man not by how nice

Sadly, this gut feeling doesn't exactly translate to a deep connection with him. In other words

Gut feelings are well and good, but it's better to trust your intuition instead.

2. Assuming good looks are enough.

Women tend to think that men only care about an attractive physical appearance. Also, many women

It's not that simple. Looks may be most obvious way to get the train started, but it's hardly

3. Acting like someone that you are not.

I may be stating the obvious, but it's worth repeating: Men aren't happy in a relationship if

4. Being too honest too fast.

Almost all successful,physically attractive, and single guys have healthy dating lives. So women

The smartest thing to do would be to ease up and let the relationship mature on it's own.

5. Not seeing the signs.

Men subconsciously show signs that indicating how evolved your relationship is. The signs give

(a) The Social level - he talks about life in general, what he's up to and how he's doing. (b)

Well, here are the signs. So learn them and know how to answer them for a better relationship
