

Title:

Why Can't We all Just Get Along?

Word Count:

600

Summary:

Couple that with the way that many view life as a chess game, where they must out maneuver the

Keywords:

communication, limitations, human, language, solution, communicate, spoken, word, kind, compas

Article Body:

It seems that there must be some fundamental problem with human communication. Wherever you tu

I think one of the key problems for us human beings is that our way of communicating through t

For example, I have a picture about something in my mind. I try to convey that picture through

Couple that with the way that many view life as a chess game, where they must out maneuver the

When two people talk to each other, these conflicting pictures or perspectives come into play.

Another problem stems from the simple fact that for as many people as there are in the world,

Multiply that by all the people on Earth having similar experiences and it's easy to see how o

I feel that the situation would be better if we had a way to communicate our entire mental pic

One thing is for sure, in order to rise above the limitations of human language one must emplo

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>