Philanthropist Ellie Guettler of Atlanta recently wrote a $500 check to help Heifer International

Ellie's parents say they want to teach her the habit of sharing by contributing to Heifer International

"We want Ellie to do a service project every year as her birthday gift back to the world. She

Ellie collected $660 in quarters, nickels, dimes and pennies. As a thank-you gift for their contribution

"We both learned that people are generous and want to make a difference, but sometimes they don't

Ellie likes to read the bestselling picture book "Beatrice's Goat" by Page McBrier that tells

"I feel bad that so many kids don't have food and can't go to school, so I hope that if I help

Children can participate in raising funds for Heifer International by reading books, making art

They can also see farm animals and learn about solutions to world hunger on visits to Heifer's
