

Title:

5 Days In Amsterdam

Word Count:

414

Summary:

All was still. Around one hundred people had settled in the rest room for the overnight ferry

All the seats had been snapped up so I found myself lying in a vacant space on the floor with

You could hear a pin drop. Then my mate ...

Keywords:

Article Body:

All was still. Around one hundred people had settled in the rest room for the overnight ferry

All the seats had been snapped up so I found myself lying in a vacant space on the floor with

You could hear a pin drop. Then my mate farted. It began as a kind of muffled snort and develo

After docking in Holland we were ushered onto a waiting coach for the one-hour drive to Amster

Windmills were liberally scattered throughout the land. Wonderful white structures whose arms

The coach dropped us off in the heart of Amsterdam, deep amongst the network of canals that di

Just as we were getting anxious, a middle-aged woman approached us. She walked with a swagger

^Are you lads looking for a room?~ she asked in broken English.

^Yes,~ we all replied simultaneously. We sensed a solution to our predicament was imminent.

^I have a bed and breakfast not far from here, just two stops on the underground. Would you li

The hotel was reasonable enough. A twenty-minute walk and we were back in town with all the ot

Amsterdam is a truly surreal place. Legalising cannabis has certainly raised an eyebrow from t

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>