

Title:

Andalucia - Undiscovered Beauty

Word Count:

521

Summary:

Andalucia, which is Spain's southernmost autonomous community, is a place of unrivalled natural beauty.

Keywords:

costa tropical, andalucia, almunecar, salobrena, granada, motril, castell de ferro, alpujarras

Article Body:

Andalucia, which is Spain's southernmost autonomous community, is a place of unrivalled natural beauty. No wonder then, that the eight provinces of Andalusia-- Cadiz, Cordoba, Almeria, Jaen, Granada, Malaga, Seville and Huelva-- offer something to everyone. Andalusia's untouched beauty has something to offer to everyone. While the coastlines of Cadiz and Malaga offer a beautiful view of the sea, the inland areas offer a different kind of beauty. On the other hand, if you want to experience the peace and quiet of the countryside, you can find it in the mountains of Sierra Nevada.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>