

Title:

Check Airfares Before Deciding To Fly Or Drive

Word Count:

581

Summary:

In the days when gas cost 25 cents a gallon, it was an easy decision which was the cheaper method.

Keywords:

airfare, airfares, airline tickets, airplane tickets, airfares directory

Article Body:

In the days when gas cost 25 cents a gallon, it was an easy decision which was the cheaper method.

In order to figure out how much gas you'll need to reach your destination, find out the mileage.

In addition, add up the costs of food and beverages consumed en route, as well as hotel costs.

Check out airfares with at least three online travel agencies. You will find a wide difference.

When planning your trip, book as far in advance as possible. Economy seats on desirable flights.

Airfare specials are often offered in spring and fall, making flying much more economical.

Students or seniors should inquire for special rates. Airlines give student discounts, and seniors.

If you are travelling in a large group and are contemplating using individual cars or a long bus.

Last but not least, consider how much time you will save by flying. If you only have a week or two.

Airfares out of large airports can be more expensive than out of smaller municipal airports, so.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>