Gellert Hotel Spa

While in Budapest, everyone kept saying I hadn't experience Hungary until I had a spa. Accordi

Being a macho American male, I dragged an American girl I met on the train with me to the spa.

Once separated, I was sent into a large room with what appeared to be a few hundred dressing r

In the dressing room, I prepared to change only to realize the cloth was no more than a string

Outside the dressing room, I proceeded to immediately stand around, try to look casual and see

At the end of the hall, we walked through two giant pools. The walls were painted in baroque s

After the pools, we approached a room that looked remarkably more industrial. There was a line

After a few moments, it was my turn to jump up on a table. My ^masseur~ looked at me and said

After a few moments of tenderizing, I was lifted off the table and sent flying through the air

Leaping out of the pool, the men in the room gave me a standing ovation accompanied by hunched

Well, when in Rome err, Budapest.
