

Title:

Auto Financing Scams

Word Count:

856

Summary:

Car dealers are often portrayed as predators just waiting for an unsuspecting customer to come

How do you tell the difference?

To avoid becoming a victim of sneaky car dealers, look at the following aut...

Keywords:

car, auto, automobile, vehicle

Article Body:

Car dealers are often portrayed as predators just waiting for an unsuspecting customer to come

How do you tell the difference?

To avoid becoming a victim of sneaky car dealers, look at the following auto financing scams.

Yoyo scam

You will be allowed by the dealer to bring the car home as soon as possible. The dealer will t

Be wary of this trick and avoid it at all costs if you detect it. If you have a bad credit sta

Window etching trick

Window etching is a very common scam. What the dealer will do is to offer to etch the VIN numb

Preparation fees

For preparing your car, the dealer will often add an additional preparation fee to your bill.

Market adjustment

The dealer will convince you that the vehicle you want is selling like hot cakes and very popu

Warranty extension

Although this type of scam is old already, it is still being used and there are many who fall

These are some of the most common auto financing scams that are utilized by some car dealers.

Think very carefully and do not buy on impulse. Good luck to you and go get that car!

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>