

Title:

Be The "Envy" Of Your Neighborhood And Lower Your Fuel

Word Count:

335

Summary:

Have you heard about the ENV yet? It's pronounced like "envy" and stands for Emissions Energy

After many years of testing, Intelligent Energy of London has developed a motorcycle-like vehi

The technology used in this vehicle is a fuel cell. For the technology-minded, it uses a proto

Keywords:

fuel,transportration,technology,automotive

Article Body:

Have you heard about the ENV yet? It's pronounced like "envy" and stands for Emissions Energy

After many years of testing, Intelligent Energy of London has developed a motorcycle-like vehi

The technology used in this vehicle is a fuel cell. For the technology-minded, it uses a proto

This electricity is then fed to a series of batteries which powers an electric motor. This giv

For the technology-minded, there is some fascinating usage of greatly available resources (hyd

In short, the answer is a resounding yes.

The motorcycle will top out at about 50 miles an hour. True, not freeway speeds, but not every Now this is still a long way from giving many of us all the benefits of our gas-guzzlers. But,

Another nice advantage to the ENV technology is the quiet operation. A nice quiet ride throug

The cost for being the "envy" of your neighborhood? Intelligent Energy says that it will sell

Maybe these high fuel costs are going to result in something positive after all.

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>