Article Body:

You can ride in just about any type of stretch limo for a lot less than you'd expect-- if you

Steps:

1. Assess your finances. A standard limousine (four to six passengers) will set you back about $40 to $80 per hour; a stretch limo (six to eight passengers)
2. Research, research, research. Be sure the limo operator is licensed and insured. Decide what
3. Find out the year and make of the limo you'll be hiring, its condition, and the complimentary
4. Hire a quality driver. This is crucial--a bad driver can ruin your evening. Make sure the driver
5. Ask whose responsibility it is to stock the limo with any necessary party favors ahead of time
6. Find out if gratuities are included in the rate; regardless, you'll be expected to tip your

Overall Tips:

Make sure your limo is ample enough to fit everyone comfortably. If you have six passengers, get

If you want premium liquor, negotiate that up front, or plan to bring your own.

Ask if smoking (or other activities) is allowed. Even if it's not, most drivers will look the other

If it's truly a special occasion, don't be cheap. Like most things in life, you get what you pay

Try to clear everything with your driver in advance. He or she is your captain for the evening

Overall Warnings:

Make sure the limo company and their drivers are properly licensed and insured when making your
