

Title:

How To Diagnose Your Car Like An Expert!

Word Count:

424

Summary:

Have you ever wondered how you can instantly know if the car you own is having problems? Well,

By asking yourself some basic, common-sense questions you can quickly and easily diagnose your

1. Are there any stains or drops of fluid under your vehicle? There may be no problem whatsoever

Keywords:

auto diagnosis,car diagnosis,diagnose car,diagnose automobile

Article Body:

Have you ever wondered how you can instantly know if the car you own is having problems? Well,

By asking yourself some basic, common-sense questions you can quickly and easily diagnose your

1. Are there any stains or drops of fluid under your vehicle? There may be no problem whatsoever

2. What color is the liquid under the car? Yellowish green, blue or orange colors can show an

Some other common symptoms you can look for include:

- A dark brown or black oily fluid can show that the engine is leaking oil. A bad seal or gasket

- A red oily looking spot shows a transmission or power steering fluid leak. Another reason to

- If you see light smoke coming from a wheel - it could be a stuck brake. Call a tow truck.

- Smoke coming from any part of the vehicle shows a need for repair. Sniff around, and you may

- The smell of gas after a failed start may mean the engine is flooded. Just wait a couple of

- If you see steam emerging from under the hood, stop and pull over. You definitely do not want

Just by following these simple guidelines and asking yourself some common-sense questions, you

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>