

Title:

New Headlight Technologies Could Save More Lives

Word Count:

320

Summary:

Each year, approximately 5,000 pedestrians and bicyclists are killed along U.S. roads - 2,300

Keywords:

New Headlight Technologies Could Save More Lives

Article Body:

Each year, approximately 5,000 pedestrians and bicyclists are killed along U.S. roads - 2,300

New automotive lighting technologies, including Xenon and Adaptive Front Lighting Systems, can

According to researcher Michael Flannagan of the University of Michigan Transportation Research

"The critical safety need in low-beam lighting is seeing distance," Flannagan said. "The maxim

One possible solution is Xenon headlights, also known as High Intensity Discharge or HID. Base

A 2004 University of Michigan Transportation Research Institute test revealed that Xenon headl

Nearly 120 vehicle models equipped with Xenon headlights were sold in North America in the 200

Another emerging headlight technology is AFS or Adaptive Front Lighting System. It provides op

This is a demo version of txt2pdf v.10.1

Developed by SANFACE Software <http://www.sanface.com/>

Available at <http://www.sanface.com/txt2pdf.html>